Biting Cold
Numbs Much of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Biting cold which numbed much of the Midwest in winter's icest weather spread eastward today with the core of the arctic air centered in the Northeast.
The early morning reading at Bemus Point, in western New York near Jamestown, was -25 degrees. Much of western and northern New York shivered under subzero temperatures, as did parts of Maine, Vermont,
New Hampshire and Pennsylvania. Marks of 10 to 20 degrees below zero were prevalent in northern New England with zero to 10 above in southern sections.
Temperatures moderated in the frigid Midwest after Wednesday's subzero wave, with below-zero reported early today in northern sections of North Dakota and Minnesota.
Eighteen states reported readings of below zero Wednesday with -47 at Hibbing, in northern Minnesota, the lowest official mark.
Freezing rain, snow and freezing drizzle slicked highways across areas in the south central states. Hazardous-driving warnings were posted by the Weather Bureau for northern and central Louisiana, extreme southern Arkansas and parts of central and northern Mississippi.
Light snow fell in parts of the north central states. Heavy snow covers many areas in the northern Midwest from storms earlier this week.
A Pacific storm lashed the north Pacific Coast with rain and increasing winds and snow fell in interior sections of the Northwest.

ROCKEFELLER (from page 1) secondary. He stated that the way to do this was to use patronage. This he intended to do.
The legislators would have no patronage and have no say as to who was appointed to anything. The county Republican committee would have the say, and if the legislators were not satisfied, they could appeal to (Rockefeller aides) Tom Down, Tom Eisele or Marion Burton, but that the governor could not deal with anything so low on the totem pole.
"He stated further that if we went along with him, he could not promise that we would not have Republican opposition at our next election, but that if we did not go along with him, he could guarantee that we would have Republican opposition and that it would be well financed."
Sen. J. Hugh Lookadoo of Arkadelphia said the letter was "a pretty good statement as to what happened over there," and Sen. Richard Earl Griffin of Crossett agreed.
"This is pretty much the way it was," Griffin said.
Gibson said he didn't consider the letter an accurate appraisal.
"It does have some truth in it, but it's not fair to Mr.
Rockefeller. It borders on the truth, but it's overemphasized."

Rockefeller, who saw the letter, said he had not said that his primary aim would be to establish a two-party system.
"All I ever said was that,
"If the shoe were on the other foot, what would you do,"" Rockefeller declared.
Rockefeller also denied that he had threatened the legislators with Republican opposition.
"They asked me whether they could expect Republican opponents if they didn't go along with my programs," Rockefeller said, "and with a big smile, I said that we hadn't run candidates against all of them, but that if we had an unproductive session, I could almost predict that they would have opponents in the next election."

Lookadoo said the letter referred to a meeting held last December at the Pine Bluff Country Club for a group composed of all members of the Arkansas House and Senate from southeast Arkansas.

Lookadoo, Griffin, Nelson and M. F. Taylor, an administrative assistant in the governmental relations office of International Paper Co. at Pine Bluff, said that the dinner was paid for by the paper company.
Rockefeller said previously that he had held five dinners for the legislators — at Fort Smith, Jonesboro, Little Rock, Pettit Jean and Pine Bluff.

"I had offered to sponsor a dinner at Pine Bluff," Rockefeller said Tuesday, "but I was told that this meeting already had been arranged and that I was welcome to attend it."

Rockefeller said he had paid for all the other dinners, which he said were held to outline his legislative aims and his policies on patronage and appointments.
The legislators' letter said Rockefeller's alleged threat was "a display of raw power and attempted intimidation."
Lookadoo said he had considered it "an outright threat."
He said he was going to use every means to build the Republican Party," Lookadoo said.
Nelson, president of the legislative delegation, said he had brought up the question of patronage, because the delegation had expressed concern about it.
"He (Rockefeller) made it clear that patronage would be handled by the local Republican committee," Nelson said.
"He let us know right quick that we weren't included in his plans," Lookadoo said.
Gibson said Rockefeller seemed very nervous.
"It was clear that he didn't know the answers to the questions that they were asking him," Gibson said. "He was stumbling for thoughts and words."

Lookadoo, Griffin and the other legislator also complained that Rockefeller had shown up three hours and 45 minutes late for the meeting without calling to say he would be late, but Nelson and Rockefeller said his lack of promptness was caused by trouble with the airplane in which

Rockefeller flew from New York to Pine Bluff to attend the meeting.
Legislators who attended some of the other dinners at which Rockefeller appeared said there had been no threats or unpleasantness on the part of the governor.
Sen. Thomas Penn of Black Rock described the meeting at Jonesboro as "a very congenial, get-acquainted type meeting."
Sen. Oscar Alagood of Little Rock attended the meeting in Little Rock.
"There was nothing like that at my meeting," Alagood said.

Move Assures Status for State July 1

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen.
J. Lee Bearden of Leachville moved Wednesday to be sure that Arkansas State College becomes a university July 1, even if the General Assembly extends its present session.
A House bill that made the school a university was signed Tuesday by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, but the bill did not have an emergency clause putting it into effect "from and after its passage and approval." Bills without an emergency clause do not become effective until 90 days after the legislature adjourns sine die.
If the legislature were to extend its session until the 1969 General Assembly, as it could do, Arkansas State would not become a university for more than two years.

With that in mind, Bearden asked the Senate to recall his Arkansas State bill from the House, which hadn't acted on it, and to expunge from the record the vote by which it passed the Senate.
The Senate then amended the bill to include an emergency clause and sent it to the Senate Committee on Engrossed Bills. It probably will be brought to a vote today in its amended form. If it passes again, it will be sent back to the House for approval, and then to the governor's office to be signed into law immediately.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. JOSEPH HENLEY CALDWELL

POLLY ANN SHERMAN AND JOSEPH HENLEY CALDWELL ARE WED

The wedding of Miss Polly Ann Sherman to Joseph Henley Caldwell of Benton was an event of Saturday evening, January 14 at 8 o'clock at the First Baptist Church, in Prescott with Dr. D. D. Smith officiating for the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Melvin M. Sherman and the late Mr. Sherman and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Henry R. Caldwell of Benton and the late Mr. Caldwell.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. David Hanning, organist. Preceding the wedding ceremony David Hanning sang "Because."

The sanctuary was decorated with an arch of magnolias featuring a central sunburst of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums flanked by seven-branched candelabra with white cathedral tapers. The altar was further enhanced with Magnolia foliage and white cathedral tapers. The couple le knelt on a white prie dieu and David Hanning sang "The Lord's Prayer." The family pews were marked with white satin ribbon bows and magnolia foliage.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Sam Gautsche, Jr., wore a white peau de soie gown fashioned with a 'scoop' neckline and long tapered sleeves ending in Calla Lily points. The fitted bodice and skirt were appliqued with Alencon lace medallions. Her short imported illusion veil was attached to Alencon lace petals encrusted with seed pearls centered with an iridescent tear-drop. The bride's cascade boucquet fashioned of stephanotis was centered with white orchids, tulips and pearls. The traditional, "something old, new, borrowed, and blue, with a sixpence in her shoe," completed her ensemble.

The bride's maid of honor and only attendant, Miss Patsy Keen of San Antonio, Texas, cousin of the bride. She wore a blue lace sheath dress and her harmonizing blue veil was attached to a matching satin band. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue tulips and white French chrysanthemums.

Henry T. Caldwell of Benton, brother of the bridegroom was best man. Billy Don Peters served as usher.

Wedding guests were registered by Miss Barbara Gautsche, aunt of the bride.

For travel the bride chose a brown velvet suit with matching accessories and an orchid from her bouquet.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Reports persist, in spite of spirited denials, that the fascination of television is wearing thin for some viewers.

This was restated recently by an executive of a corporation with a big advertising stake in television. He told a broadcasting group there were signs that better-educated, higher-income viewers — the "quality audience" — was decreasing in numbers.

Not so, replied a spokesman of the Television Information Office, public relations wing of the National Association of Broadcasters. He cited a Nielsen analysis of September and October audiences to show that the upper-income audience — $10,000 a year and over — had increased by one per cent over the previous year.

But the suspicion that viewers are deserting refuses to die. Louis Harris, who takes polls on various subjects, reported this week that among the most affluent 25 per cent of the population, "a majority of TV sets are not turned on during most evenings."

If some viewers are using their sets less these days, the blame must be borne by the people who pick our entertainment.

It is estimated that the evening programs on the three networks alone cost around $11,000,000 a week to produce. That is a lot of money and, if one is selective, there are some good things to watch. Much of the trouble seems to start in the early eve-

Rehabilitation Measures Now Help Stroke Victims

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My mother recently died of a brain hemorrhage. Would the fact that she had high blood pressure for 10 years cause this?

A—Yes. When the arteries of the brain become hardened they are more brittle and less able to withstand an increase in pressure without breaking.

Q—I never had high blood pressure but I had a stroke in 1963. What could cause this? Is there any way to get back the use of my left hand?

A—The stroke syndrome is the result of a cutting off of the blood supply to a part of the brain. This may be sudden and severe due to a massive brain hemorrhage or the plugging of an artery in the brain by a clot that has broken loose in another part of the body and been carried to the brain. On the other hand, it may be gradual and relatively mild due to an obstruction in an artery of the brain itself by a slowly forming clot or deposits of calcium in the arterial wall.

Early in the course of a stroke an attempt must be made to determine which cause is operating because the treatment of the two types is different. Much can be done for some stroke victims if rehabilitative measures are started promptly.

Q—Would a lack of vitamins cause shingles? What are the symptoms? Is it serious? What is the best treatment?

A—Shingles or herpes zoster is caused by the same virus that causes chicken pox. It is believed by some authorities to be a reactivation of the virus after it has lain dormant in a person whose attack of chicken pox several years earlier failed to produce complete immunity to it. Thus, it is not contagious in the ordinary sense.

The victim gets a series of small blisters along the course of one of the nerves that runs close to the skin. The lesions itch and are often painful. There is usually fever for a few days at the onset. Serious complications are rare but, if the optic nerve is involved, partial blindness may result.

Since there is no specific cure, treatment is aimed at relieving the pain with aspirin or codein and making the

At two of the five tables East shifted to a trump. South rose with his ace, ruffed a club in dummy, returned to the queen, led out his king and queen of trumps, entered dummy with the ace of spades and discarded his queen of clubs and low spade on dummy's diamonds. The second diamond was ruffed but South did make an overtrick which in each case was worth one IMP to him

Louisville Continues Winning

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Quit standing around and get more aggressive," Peck Hickman, coach of the second-ranked Louisville Cardinals, told his players at halftime.

The leaders of the Missouri Valley Conference carried out Hickman's orders with a second half blitz that bowled over Dayton 66-50 in the top college basketball game Wednesday night.

Sophomore Butch Beard, who hit for 41 points against Bradley last Saturday, led the second half charge for the Cardinals that erased Dayton's 28-23 intermission lead on the Flyers' home court.

Beard threw in six second half baskets and finished with 18 points altogether as the Cardinals chalked up their 15th victory in 16 starts. It was the second time this season the Cardinals have beaten Dayton, one of the country's top independents with a 12-3 record.

Don May and Dan Sadler each scored 16 points for the Flyers who fell behind after a jump shot by Beard tied the score at 31-31.

Virginia Tech, another top independent at 9-2, walloped East Carolina 91-62 at Blacksburg, Va., on a comparatively quiet night in the dribble sport with all The Associated Press Top Ten teams idle with the exception of Louisville.

Ted Ware led the Gobblers with 27 points in snapping East Carolina's four-game winning streak.

Johnny Jones, a Villanova soph, hit for 27 points and grabbed 12 rebounds in leading the Wildcats over Xavier of Ohio 75-59 in the feature of a doubleheader at Philadelphia. Scranton edged Drexel 70-68 in the opener on Everett Jenkins' basket with 55 seconds left.

Fred Foster, with 31 points, paced Miami of Ohio to a 68-56 home court triumph over Ohio University. On the road Dave Reaser flipped in 34 points to lead West Virginia over Pitt 102-78.

Hardin-Simmons went three overtimes to squeak by Midwestern of Texas 97-95. In other games Southern Mississippi downed Spring Hill 84-66, Niagara edged Buffalo 74-70, St. Peters of New Jersey defeated Rider 74-61 and Colgate routed Alfred 99-63.

Promoter Is Willing to Equal Billing

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Ernie Terrell may announce today whether or not he is satisfied with efforts by promoters to settle his complaints about pre-fight promotion of his Feb. 6 fight with Cassius Clay.

Terrell, the World Boxing Association champion, complained earlier this week that promoters failed to give him equal billing with Clay, the consensus heavyweight champion, on signs and billboards advertising the fight. Terrell threatened to pull out of the fight.

Both Terrell and his manager met Wednesday with officials of Astrodomes Championship Enterprises, the promoting group, in an effort to work out Terrell's complaints.

"We realize the tremendous pride that Ernie has, and we will try to see that he gets the recognition he so richly deserves," said Fred Hofmeier, president of the promoting group.

Terrell had complained that some signs had only a picture of Clay and that Clay's name on many of the signs was in much larger lettering.

Bill Giles, vice president and director of public relations for the Astrodomes, site of the fight, said Hamid was told the promoting group was willing to change some of the signs and give definite equal billing to Terrell in all future materials used for promotion of the fight.

Both Terrell and Clay were to work out today at the exhibition hall adjacent to the Astrodomes.

Rule Change Designed for More Kicking

By STEVE BASSETT
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — More kicking, less electronic gadgetry and a little more actual playing time — that's what college football rules makers hope will develop from changes they've adopted.

The Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association decided Wednesday to put the foot back in football and to outlaw electronic scouting devices, especially instant video-tape replays.

The fans will be getting more football for their money under a new rule which stops the clock when the ball changes hands until it is put into play by the defensive team.

"This should add about two minutes of actual playing time to the game," said Dave Nelson, head coach at the University of Delaware.

Committee Chairman Fritz Crisler, University of Michigan athletic director, said it was decided "there have been too many fair catches on kicks from scrimmage and it's the unanimous feeling that this should change."

Interior linemen on the kicking team will now have to hold their positions until the ball is kicked, thus allowing the player receiving the punt about two additional seconds.

All electronic scouting gear will be prohibited during games, and specific mention was made of video-tape replays which could be flashed back to the coaches.

The committee agreed that many teams, both on college and junior college levels, won't be able to afford the electronic devices, but the temptation will be great to do so.

Most of the 15 rules changes agreed to during the three-day meeting involved clarifications of existing regulations.

Rather than ban the tackle-eligible play as proposed by a coaches subcommittee, the rule was modified to prohibit the offensive team from flanking any player, back or lineman, outside the eligible tackle.

A new rule allows coaches to confer with one player during any charged timeout.

A team which takes possession of the ball either by punt, fumble or intercepted pass won't have to give up the ball should it have a penalty called against on the same play. The team will also retain possession if there are offsetting penalties on the same play.

It was agreed to appoint a committee of college coaches to work with a similar group of high school coaches to draw up a common code of ethics which apply to both levels of competition.

The committee, in another resolution, also put it up to the coaches themselves to insure that helmets are used as safety devices and not weapons to be used for so-called spearing of opponents.

ing the new clubs in 1968 and 1969 calls for an intraleague draft in which each club will be permitted to protect two goalies and 14 other players. Current regulations call for the first four teams to protect two goalies and 18 other players with the fifth-place team allowed to protect 19 others and the sixth place team 20.

By JACK STEVENSON

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — "Addition of the Spyglass Hill golf course will make Bing Crosby's tournament easier for a long ball hitter to win," declared powerful Jack Nicklaus as the firing started today.

"It will also make scores average four strokes higher than in the past," he added before the 336 golfers swung into action.

Winner of the Masters the past two years, Nicklaus won a little wager Wednesday as he toured the par 36-Spyglass Hill course in two-under 70.

Sponsor Crosby had bet $5 that Nicklaus couldn't better the regulation figures. He should have bet Arnold Palmer, who carded 74 while playing with Nicklaus.

Or Billy Casper, the U.S. Open king, who had a 77 for his practice session at Spyglass. While neither Nicklaus nor Palmer has won the Crosby, the latter twice has gone to Casper, in 1958 and 1963, the first time with a record 277 for 72 holes.

Dawn of a New Era for N.Y. Mets

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — This may be the dawn of a new era for the New York Mets. Here it is mid-January and Westrum already has a tentative opening day batting order.

In the long years (every year except 1966) when the Mets finished last in the National League, they were lucky if they knew who was going to open the season the night before the first game.

Westrum should have a good idea who his starting pitcher might be, too, after listening to Bob Shaw over the phone from Jupiter, Fla., Wednesday. Shaw, who signed a contract reportedly calling for $47,500 (a $5,000 raise) told the manager he had been working out in his back yard. Usually, Shaw doesn't sign until the middle of spring training.

"I want to pitch good baseball consistently," said the right-hander who was 11-10 with the Mets from June 10 on after starting with a 1-4 record in San Francisco.

"It will be a big change for me to get there on time," said Shaw. "I figured the best way to do the job is to get the full benefit of spring training."

Westrum listened with great interest and probably tabbed Shaw for opening day duty.

Tommy Davis, acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers in the Ron Hunt deal, already has been awarded the No. 4 spot in the Mets' batting order.

"If we started tomorrow," said Westrum, "I would lead off with Bud Harrelson at shortstop, Don Bosch in center, Cleon Jones in right, T. Davis in left, Ken Boyer on third, Ed Kranepool on first."

"Then I would have my second baseman, either Ed Bresnold or Chuck Hiller, depending on the pitching, followed by my catcher and the pitcher. I probably would move Kranepool ahead of Boyer against a right-hander."

"I'm going to try to keep the best 25 men, Ron Swoboda will get a chance, like everybody else. If I think Ron can help us now and then or pinch hit he will be one of the 25."

This year the new Spyglass replaces the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, a par-71 layout in Crosby's triumphant today, Palmer was at Spyglass, Nicklaus at Pebble Beach and Casper at Cypress Point.

Pros have criticized Spyglass as rough both on fairway and green.

Palmer figured a score of 285 to 286 would be very good at the conclusion of play Sunday. A year ago, Don Massengale of Jacksonville, Tex., surprised everyone by winning with a 283 for usually it has been the veteran pro who wins the Crosby.

Palmer also believes the inclusion of Spyglass will send the pro-am scores higher. While the

S. Illinois Tops Small College Poll

Southern Illinois, conqueror of major power Louisville, strengthened its lead on first place in The Associated Press weekly small college basketball today.

Of the 18 experts voting, 17 of them picked the Salukis first, with Kentucky Wesleyan second. Southern Illinois got 179 points, while Kentucky Wesleyan, which received the other first place vote, got 149.

Southern Illinois defeated Kentucky Wesleyan 52-51 last Monday, but the poll is based only on games through last Saturday.

The only change in the Top Ten saw No. 6 Pan American and No. 9 Tennessee State exchanging places. Tennessee State moved up by beating No. 10 Lincoln, Mo., 92-88, while Pan American dropped because of defeats by Midwestern, Tex., 81-68, and the Phillips Oilers, 82-60.

Cheney State held on to third place, followed by Akron and Grambling in the first five.

Indiana State is seventh, then San Diego State, Pan American and Lincoln.

Scott Allen to Defend Skate Title

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Scott Allen, America's top men's singles hope in the 1968 Olympics, opens what appears a tough defense of his National crown in the U.S. Figure Skating Championships today.

Allen, an 18-year-old from Smoke Rise, N.J., moves into the compulsory figures against Detroit's Gary Visconti, who dethroned the Eastern star in the 1965 National, and one of the sports' brightest newcomers, John Misha Petkevich, a 17-year-old of Great Falls, Mont., 1966 National junior champ.

However, if the form sheet follows Wednesday's opening competition in the four-day meet at Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum, Allen should become the first skater to win consecutive titles since Dave Jenkins won four straight through 1960.

Wednesday night, defending champions Cynthia and Ronald Kauffman of Seattle got off to a brilliant start in the initial round of the senior pairs. In the gold dance compulsory competition heavily favored Lorna Dyer and John Carrell, the University of Washington students from Seattle, made an impressive start.

The free skating finale of the gold dance will be held Friday while the senior pairs wind-up is Saturday night.

Also on tap today were the finals of the junior men's and women's competition, the finals of the junior pairs and initial competition in the novice ladies.

The junior competition opened Wednesday with 17-year-old Roger Bass of Lakewood, Calif., and Julie Lynn Holmes of South Pasadena, Calif., leading their respective divisions in the compulsory figures which comprise 60 per cent of the competition.

Runner-up to Bass entering the final phase of the junior men's action was Torrey Sun, 15-year-old son of a China-born eye doctor at Ames, Iowa. The 110-pound Sun and his 13-year-old sister Wen-An, who weighs 106, have proven the darlings of the crowd.

As probably the smallest entries ever competing, the Sun kids finished sixth in Wednesday night's compulsory competition.

While Torrey goes after Bass in the junior men's finals today, little Wen-An starts in quest of the novice ladies title against eight rivals.

In the senior women's division, Peggy Fleming, 18, of Colorado Springs, the reigning world champion, skates for a fourth successive national title Friday and Saturday.

After Saturday night's wind-up, the U.S. squad of 12 skaters is expected to be named for the North American Championships at Montreal Feb. 10-11-12 and the world meet at Vienna Feb. 28-March 5.

Ordinarily, the squad includes three singles skaters from each of the men's and women's divisions, and six tandems for the pairs and dance competition.

Philadelphia Just Keep on Winning

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Billy Cunningham and Luke Jackson took turns — almost — and the Philadelphia 76ers rolled again.

That was the latest chapter in the Philadelphia story as the visiting 76ers whipped Detroit 113-105 Wednesday night for their sixth straight National Basketball Association victory and 43rd in 47 starts.

Cunningham scored 11 points in the first quarter to keep the 76ers close as Detroit took a 29-27 lead. Then Jackson took over in the second, scoring 17 to give the 76ers a 61-49 halftime margin.

After Detroit went ahead by a point in the third, Cunningham came on again for nine points as Philadelphia moved to an 83-74 lead at the end of the period. Cunningham then stepped out of turn and scored 11 more in the final period.

The Boston Celtics outdid Oscar Robertson by getting double-figure scoring from seven players to beat host Cincinnati 119-106. Chicago held Rick Barry to 13 points in beating San Francisco 111-107 at Evansville, Ind., and the St. Louis Hawks outlasted the Lakers 123-121 in overtime at Los Angeles.

Robertson popped in 36 points in an effort to run the Royals' winning streak to six, but the Celtics' balanced scoring attack was just too much. John Havlicek led Boston with 20, Bailey Howell and Sam Jones added 19 each and Bill Russell was next with 18.

Chicago's Don Kojis did the good defensive job on Barry in the game at Evansville, Ind. Barry, the NBA's leading scorer, made only four of 21 field goal attempts. Three straight field goals by Jim Washington helped put Chicago ahead 106-103 with less than three minutes remaining.

Clutch-shooting by Zelmo Beaty triggered St. Louis' victory over Los Angeles as the Hawks' tightened their grip on second place in the Western Division.

Jerry West's jump shot in the final seconds of regulation time enabled the Lakers to tie the game 112-111. Beaty, who wound up with 32 points, and Lennie Wilkens sparked the Hawks in the extra period.

CHICAGO (AP) — The great and the small, the old and the young, people of all faiths and races will begin saying the last goodbye to Barney Ross tonight.

Visitations at the chapel where his body lay in state were to be for three hours. Funeral services will be Friday with burial in Chicago's Rosemont Park Cemetery.

Barney Ross, 57, lost his last fight to throat cancer Wednesday.

He had never known the meaning of defeat in his battles as a boxer, a Marine and against narcotics.

He won the lightweight, junior welterweight and welterweight boxing titles in the 1930's. He won the silver star for gallantry in action on Guadalcanal in 1942.

He won over the dope habit — which he had picked up fighting off the pains of malaria — as a patient in the United States Public Health Service Hospital, Lexington, Ky., in 1946.

Princeton Coach Gets a New Call

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PRINCETON, N.J. — (NEA) — Once, Bill Van Breda Kolff was a happy, the game-is-played-for-fun guy, who stood out from the coaching crowd because of his flamboyant behavior on the bench, his anti-establishment witticisms and his big cigars.

Princeton was the last place you could picture the big Dutchman with the mocking smile, the questioning eyes and the deep, rasping voice.

He didn't make it through as an undergraduate. "My academic career here," he said, smiling, "was . . . sort of checkered."

Bill received his degree from New York University, played professionally for the New York Knickerbockers, coached Lafayette into the National Invitation Tournament, and then transformed Hofstra into a small college power.

When Princeton asked him to return he did even though the basketball program offered nothing but a challenge. At Princeton he had no assistant. The baseball coach doubled as his freshman coach and the pressureless Ivy League was a lot of fun.

Enter Bill Bradley. Exit fun.

Bill Van Breda Kolff wishes people wouldn't ask him about Bill Bradley any more. He also wishes people wouldn't compare his 1966-67 nationally ranked team with his nationally ranked squad of 1964-65.

It's not that Bill Van Breda Kolff doesn't appreciate Bill Bradley. And it's not that he doesn't enjoy talking about Bill Bradley.

It's just that in the last two years everything seems to have changed at Princeton. That change can be traced back to Bill Bradley.

The trouble was that Van Breda Kolff, Princeton and the Ivy League were unprepared for a legend, and Bill Bradley was the most legendary sports figure in the Ivy League since Albie Booth.

This, however, is not an F. Scott Fitzgerald era of glitter, manners and elegance. This era belongs, instead, to Camus, to Sartre, to Kafka and Pinter and Brecht. Their thoughts are a bit murkier.

Bill Bradley rekindled all the memories of a forgotten time. He was polite, warm, sincere, intelligent, well-mannered and an athlete with extraordinary talent.

Africa Wants No Foreign Criticism

By DENNIS LEE ROYLE
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Foreign preachers who use the pulpit to criticize this country's racial policies may find themselves out of a job here.

Legislation is expected to cut to a year the usual three-year temporary residential permit. Even the one-year permit could be withdrawn.

Many clergymen, some of them holding foreign passports, have been warned to watch their step. Those who continue to condemn apartheid—race segregation—from the pulpit and in pastoral magazines are the targets.

Growing antagonism between the pro-government Dutch Reformed Church and other religious bodies has influenced the government to take action.

While Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster holds the reins of political power, his brother, Dr. J. A. Vorster, an actuary of the Dutch Reformed Church, dominates the religious field. This Church has a predominantly Afrikaans-speaking following estimated at 1.7 million whites in a total white population of about three million. It upholds the government's racial segregation policies.

Dr. Vorster has directed attention to the multiracial Christian Institute of South Africa, a religious body which has often attacked what it considers the lack of Christian principles applied to South Africa's racial problems.

Its members embrace many of the country's religious groups, including some ministers of the Dutch Reformed Church, even though the latter has banned the Christian Institute and warned its Church followers not to associate with it.

"The Christian Institute is mainly responsible for the ugly image of the Dutch Reformed Church in the outside world," says Dr. Vorster. "During a meeting of the World Council of Churches they conveyed the impression that South Africa was sitting on a powder-keg. Let us tell the world we have rejected it."

A government leader, Ben Schoeman, says:

"We are growing tired of political bishops. They use their pulpits to justify their dirty attacks on the government. If ministers of religion want to take part in politics, let them step down on to the political platform."

Conner Quits, Dept. Has No High Hierarchy

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The resignation of John T. Conner as secretary leaves the Commerce Department stripped of its top hierarchy. And it soon will lose many of its functions to the new Department of Transportation.

The task of regrouping a smaller department for possible merger with the Labor Department now falls to Alexander B. Trowbridge, 37, a native of New Jersey.

President Johnson, in accepting Conner's resignation Wednesday, named Trowbridge acting secretary. He had been assistant secretary of commerce for domestic and international business since May 6, 1965.

Conner's resignation, rumored for many months, followed last week's swearing in of Alan S. Boyd as secretary of the new Department of Transportation.

Boyd had been undersecretary of commerce for transportation, considered the department's No. 3 spot.

The No. 2 post — that of undersecretary — has been vacant since the resignation last year of LeRoy Collins, former governor of Florida.

The White House indicated that Johnson does not now plan to name a full successor to Conner pending congressional action on his request to merge the Commerce and Labor departments.

Conner cited this proposed merger and creation of the Department of Transportation in his letter of resignation. Many of Commerce's personnel and responsibilities, including the Bureau of Public Roads, will move to the transportation department.

"This seems to be a good time to make the change," Conner wrote.

The outgoing secretary said he had decided to return to private business but did not elaborate on his future plans. He had been president of Merck & Co., the drug firm, before being named to the Cabinet two years ago.

Conner reportedly was disenchanted with the department's lack of influence in shaping economic policy.

Johnson has relied heavily for economic advice on the Council of Economic Advisers, the Budget Bureau and the Treasury Department.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

The two groups surged. Mess-hall windows shattered. Guards fired warning shots into the air. By this time 500 prison guards and personnel took up posts, aided by a contingent of 65 men from the Marin County sheriff's office and the California Highway Patrol. Gov. Ronald Reagan made more than 200 other highway patrolmen available.

For nearly three hours the two groups refused to obey orders.

"No one seemed to want to make the first move," Wilson said.

Finally, tear-gas canisters were thrown and the Negroes, prodded by warning shots whining through the air, let themselves be herded back to their cells.

The remaining group of whites and Mexican-Americans stayed in the lower yard for about seven hours. Smoke billowed out of the yard as they burned benches to keep warm in a chilling fog that moved in.

They wore only dungarees and light shirts. In the late afternoon, one man was hit in the mouth by a ricocheting bullet, Park said. Below the main gate, as Wilson gave a news conference, a flurry of shots were heard.

"Some of the men probably went where they weren't supposed to go," he said.

At 7:15 p.m., another staccato burst of shots rang out. Four men were wounded in this, it was explained, mostly around the legs. At about 8:30 p.m., guards began moving men back into their cells in groups of 25. And 2½ hours later all had been returned to cells and the prison was pronounced "secure."

Legislature Armed for Prison Probe

By ROBERT L. SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The legislature armed Wednesday for an immediate investigation into conditions in the state prison system.

The House cleared the way by passing on a voice vote a resolution approved Monday by the Senate that creates a five-member legislative committee to make the investigation and report back within 21 days.

Rep. Marcus Howell of Helena, who handled the resolution in the House, emphasized that "time is of the essence." He said that if the time allotted in the resolution was not sufficient for the inquiry, the committee could ask for an extension.

Speaker Sterling R. Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock said he would appoint three representatives today to the commission. The other two members will be chosen from the Senate.

Meanwhile, a bill by Sen. Knox Nelson of Pine Bluff creating a commission to make a longer study of the prison system underwent some changes.

The Senate amended the bill to give the commission 13 members instead of 15, to set the deadline for reporting its findings at April 1 next year instead of in the 1965 legislative session and to appropriate $25,000 instead of $10,000 to finance the inquiry.

The amendments were made after Nelson conferred with Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

In other action, the House approved a bill 78-15 prohibiting the state from observing Daylight Saving Time. New federal legislation makes last time mandatory from April 30 to Oct. 29 this year unless state legislatures designate otherwise.

Rep. Bennie Ryburn Jr. of Monticello, the author of the measure, said, "We will be putting control of our time in federal hands" if the legislature failed to pass the bill.

Rep. George Nowotny of Fort Smith said, however, that DST would give the state an extra hour of daylight leisure. Rep. Chadd Durrett of Strong joined him in opposition, saying that the bill would hamper industries in Arkansas that have home offices or subsidiaries in states observing DST.

The Senate approved a bill appropriating $8 million to make state income tax refunds during the current fiscal year. It also passed a measure by Sen. Milt Earnhart of Fort Smith setting the state primary elections on the third Tuesday in September and the runoff primaries two weeks later in an attempt to shorten campaigns.

The House passed a bill requiring independent candidates to file by the deadline for filing for party primaries. Independent candidates now can file up to 60 days before the November general election. Also approved was a bill providing for monthly instead of quarterly distribution of highway revenue turnback funds to counties.

The representatives, after heated debate, also adopted a resolution urging Congress to repeal the fees charged for access to federal recreational and use areas.

Negro, White Convicts in Battle

By JACK SCHREIBMAN
SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Guards firing rifles, shotguns and tear-gas canisters prevented a racial clash between 2,800 white and Negro convicts in the San Quentin Prison yard Wednesday night as the two groups came to within 50 feet of each other.

Eight convicts suffered gunshot wounds during the tense hours following a glaring face-down of the two groups. Five others suffered head wounds from beatings by other convicts. Two men incurred heart attacks.

The confrontation included one group of more than 1,000 whites and Mexican-Americans and another group of about 1,800 Negroes.

Officials said the turmoil grew out of the fatal beating and stabbing of a white prisoner last Monday.

Trouble started after lunch Wednesday, said Associate Warden James W. L. Park, when inmates entered the football field-sized yard. Whites and Mexican-Americans gathered on one side, Negroes on the other. They drew closer, hurling curses across the no-man's-land. Elsewhere on the grounds of the 40-acre prison, another 1,200 inmates tended to their duties.

With the angry convicts separated by only 50 feet, Warden Lawrence E. Wilson mounted the gunwall surrounding the yard and ordered, "Knock it off and go back to your cells."

There was silence, and no one moved.

Park said many of the men had armed themselves with pipes from plumbing ripped from prison facilities, and clubs from benches torn apart in the yard. A temporary classroom building made of wood was set ablaze.

Guards were ready to throw up a "wall of fire" with bullets if the factions got any closer, but it wasn't necessary Park

Weather Note and a Story on Old Mexico

This 12-degree morning reminds me that I had a pile of papers on the floor by my desk against this very contingency, but overnight some energetic cuss removed the litter and left a vacant floor staring at me.

But it's no editorial disaster for I remember the news item I was going to hang today's piece on. It was a report on Mexico's record freeze back in February 1940. I was in Mexico City later that same month.

I didn't see any particular freeze damage during the two weeks I was in and around the capital city, but what I did see on the way down was evidence enough that frigid air struck that year even to the Torrid Zone. The winter was severe when we left Hope, but it was so in Houston also, where for the first time their palm trees were killed and had to be cut down. I saw frost-bitten palms at Monterrey, only 600 miles north of the capital, and the damage extended still further south in the Torrid Zone.

All "freezes" are relative and what would be cold to Mexico City would still be ruled mild in our section. The Mexican capital is in the general latitude of Cuba and would be absolutely frost-proof except for its extreme altitude, 7,300 feet—half a mile higher than Denver. High altitude caught it in that 1940 freeze. And the word "altitude" reminds me that in Mexico City there are no flies or mosquitoes—the air is so thin flying insects can't take off.

The variations in weather are endless, of course. Mexicans still talk about "the winter of 1940"—but so do the people of Florida talk about what happened to them in three consecutive years in the 1950's. The low record for 69 years in Sarasota was 39 degrees. And then it dropped to 26. It was 26 also in Homestead, 30 miles south of Miami—and there was ice in the Orange Bowl. But for all the vagaries of the weather Old Mexico is still a marvelous place for a winter vacation—good roads, good food, fine motels, and a hospitable people. If you go—and I'll go back some day—don't make the mistake of judging Mexico by some furtive visit to a border town. Go down deep into the country where the real Mexico lives. Autumn through March is the best season, as the rainy season sets in about April.

WR Signs Two College Bills

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bills changing the names of state-supported colleges at Arkadelphia and Conway were signed into law Wednesday by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Act 4 of 1967 changed the name of Henderson State Teachers College at Arkadelphia to Henderson State College and Act 5 changed the name of Arkansas State Teachers College at Conway to State College of Arkansas.

AT&T Building Disaster Center

FINKSBURG, Md. (AP) — Construction has begun on an underground, two-story communications center which will be part of an emergency national communications network in event of a disaster.

American Telephone & Telegraph Co. is building the system which will link 15 cities on the East Coast. The $14-million Finksbury installation is one of 11 planned — to assure continuity of communications in case of a natural or man-made disaster.

Says B A Degree Nearly Worthless

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A college bachelor of arts degree is all but worthless any more and "means little or nothing as a symbol for a liberal education," says Dr. Louis T. Benezet, president of Claremont Graduate School.

In a speech to the National Conference of Academic Deans he suggested offering specialized degrees such as bachelor of chemistry or English.

Filibuster Change Hits a Setback

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 61-37 vote has halted a bipartisan drive for a stronger Senate anti-filibuster rule.

After Wednesday's setback, the only hope left for those who want to make it easier to halt filibusters is to muster a two-thirds majority to bring the debate on rules to a close.

A chance to do this will be offered under a cloture petition to be filed by leaders of both parties and other senators.

However, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told reporters that although he will sign the debate-closing petition, he will vote against it and expects it to fail.

The petition automatically will come to a vote next Tuesday under a rule requiring a two-thirds majority of senators voting to end debate.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield wouldn't forecast the outcome of Tuesday's vote. But he said if it were close and it appeared a second cloture petition would have any possibility of success, he would make another try before turning to other matters.

An attempt to bypass the two-thirds rule was the key to the strategy of those who favor making it possible to choke off a filibuster either by a three-fifths majority of senators voting or by a majority of the Senate membership.

They contended that at the start of a new Congress a majority of the Senate has a constitutional right to adopt rules unfettered by any rules previously adopted.

Acting on behalf of the bipartisan group, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., moved to shut off debate by majority vote on taking up the proposed three-fifths rule. Dirksen raised a point of order against the motion.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Senate's presiding officer, said this presented a constitutional question and turned it over to the Senate for a decision.

But he said that if the Senate voted to table and thus kill Dirksen's point of order, he would interpret this as instructing him to put McGovern's motion to a vote without further debate.

And Humphrey said that under those circumstances, a majority vote on McGovern's motion to end debate would prevail.

As it turned out the vote was 61-37 against tabling Dirksen's point of order. This had the effect of wiping out McGovern's motion and sustaining the position of those who contend Senate rules carry over from one Congress to another.

Thinks Tax Increase Can Be Avoided

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said today "Congress can cut the President's budget sufficiently to avoid a tax increase." But until Congress gets the budget, he added, "it is impossible to be specific about budget cuts."

In reply to questions submitted by The Associated Press, Ford said his opposition to the President's proposal for a 6 per cent surcharge on corporate and most individual income taxes "is based on the economic indicators as they presently exist."

"Balancing the economy is more important than balancing the budget," he said.

Ford's views were given in advance of tonight's Republican response to President Johnson's State of the Union message. The Michigan Republican will outline the GOP domestic program and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen will discuss foreign affairs.

Dirksen told a reporter it was fair to say that he would give Johnson's Vietnam course a general endorsement but reserve the right to criticize particulars. He added he will have a great deal to say about other international actions.

STRONG OBJECTIONS by little Mark Cavell are overruled by Dr. Frank Clinton and a nurse in Southampton, England, as the tot is fitted with contact lenses especially developed for children born with poor eyesight. Several fittings will be necessary before Mark can wear the lenses without difficulty.

Opponents of Mao Gain Some Steam

By EUGENE LEVIN

TOKYO (AP) — Followers of Mao Tse-tung disclosed today that his opponents have extended their "counteroffensive" from the cities to the countryside in a bid to win over Red China's 500-million peasants.

It was a direct challenge to Mao, who in the past has managed to hold the support of the peasants who make up two thirds of the mainland population.

Supporters of Mao's chief foe, President Liu Shao-chi, were reported trying to influence the peasants the same way they did workers in the industrial centers — through economic benefits.

A Japanese correspondent in Peking reported bloody clashes took place between followers of Mao and Liu in Shenyang, Harbin and Dairen in Manchuria and Chengchow in central China. He said wall posters reported 58 persons were injured Dec. 21 when about 3,000 Red Guards who had swung over to Liu's side clashed with 600 Maoists in Dairen, major port and gateway to Manchuria.

The correspondent said anti-Mao textile workers and their supporters clashed with pro-Mao Red Guards on Jan. 7-8 in Chengchow. One person was reported killed and 23 seriously injured, he said.

Six persons were reported seriously injured and scores slightly hurt Jan. 6 in similar clashes in Shenyang, the report added.

A Chinese woman arriving in Hong Kong from Canton said about 100 Chinese burned Mao in effigy in that southern city Wednesday. Hundreds of bystanders cheered and applauded, the woman said.

The New China News Agency, in Chinese-language reports broadcast by Peking Radio, indicated that Mao's opponents were trying to win over the peasants by giving them bigger individual shares of the traditional year-end distribution of produce.

This produce is usually apportioned to the state, the commune, and individual members of the commune.

During the turmoil since New Year's Day, Communist China's official news outlets have repeatedly accused Mao's opponents of trying to win workers with "economism"—promises of higher wages and other economic benefits.

New System in Russia Paying

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet enterprises placed on the new economic reform system increased profits 24 per cent last year, the deputy chairman of the State Planning Agency announced today.

The reform gives enterprises more freedom to respond to market needs and judges their success largely by profits.

Deputy Chairman S. Bachurin told the labor paper Trud that during the first full year of operation of the reform, the 700 industrial enterprises operating on it exceeded their production targets 11 per cent. He said their labor productivity went up 8 per cent, compared with 5 per cent for the rest of industry.

Pink Tomato Festival Set

WARREN, Ark. (AP) — The 1967 Pink Tomato Festival has been scheduled for June 9-10, festival chairman Curtis Blankenship said Tuesday.

Extension of Session Favorable

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The House and Senate, fearful that they will not be able to complete their work in the regular 60-day session, have approved duplicate resolutions to extend the session.

They approved the measures Wednesday — the House 80-5 with no debate and the Senate 28-4 after a 1½ hour debate. The General Assembly would determine the length of the extension later.

Sen. Morrell Gathright of Pine Bluff, author of the resolution, said the extension was necessary because of the heavy volume of work left in the next six weeks of the session. He said early approval of the extension was necessary so that legislators would be reminded to include emergency clauses in their bills.

A bill with an emergency clause goes into effect immediately after the governor signs it. Otherwise, it does not become law until 90 days after the legislature adjourns sine die.

A bill passed without an emergency clause and signed by the governor would be delayed further in becoming law by an extended session. It was noted that conceivably the session could be extended until the 67th General Assembly convenes in 1969 and bills without emergency clauses would not go into effect for more than two years.

Gathright said his resolution was not a partisan attempt to give the legislature an opportunity to override any vetoes by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller. He said an extension had been proposed as early as May last year before anyone knew that Rockefeller would be governor.

Gathright said it was not possible to adequately conduct the state's business in a 60-day session every two years and cited the number of special sessions held the last few years.

In the House, Speaker Sterling R. Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock told the representatives to be prepared to work Friday instead of going home on Thursday afternoon, as it ordinarily does in the first two weeks of the session.

"We should go on working rather than quit early this week if we are going to have an extension of the session," Cockrill said.

Machinists, Rails Heads for Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Machinists' Union, which staged history's biggest airlines strike last year, now is heading for a showdown with the nation's railroads.

President P.L. (Roy) Stenmill of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists says his union won't settle for the 5 per cent wage hike pattern other unions have accepted from the railroad industry.

"We'll take a strike on it unless they come up with more than 5 per cent," Stenmill told newsmen.

He said the 43,000 railroad machinists are in much the same position as the 35,000 airline machinists before last summer's strike in falling behind other industries in wages.

The railroads, Stenmill said, once provided the highest paying jobs, but "the poorest job a machinist can get today is to go to the railroad industry."

A Machinists' spokesman said its members in the railroad industry earned $3.05 per hour, compared with $4 or more in most other industries.

The union's six-week strike against five major airlines last summer boosted top mechanics' pay in that industry from $3.52 to $4.08 per hour by the end of next year, plus cost-of-living wage hikes up to 6 cents an hour.

The airlines contract provided wage and fringe benefit increases variously estimated at 5 to 7 per cent.

Rockefeller Again Target of Members of the Legislature

By GEORGE F. BARTSCH
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A member of the Arkansas Legislature has charged that Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller told a meeting of the southeast Arkansas legislative delegation that his primary aim was to establish a two-party system and that "everything else was secondary."

The legislator, who asked to remain unidentified, also accused Rockefeller of threatening the delegation with well-financed Republican opposition in 1968 if they "did not go along with him."

Rockefeller denied the charges, which were supported by at least two members of the southeast Arkansas delegation.

Another member, Sen. Knox Nelson of Pine Bluff, said he didn't recall either of the statements, but that Rockefeller "might have said that—I don't remember."

Sen. John F. (Mutt) Gibson of Dermott said he didn't recall the alleged threat, and that Rockefeller "didn't say that he would put it first, but he made it clear that he intended to build a two-party system."

The charges were in a two-page, typewritten letter to The Associated Press. The letter was unsigned, but the legislator later identified himself and admitted that he had sent it. He said he didn't want to identify himself openly because of possible political repercussions in his home county.

The letter said in part: "Rocky (sic) told the legislators that his primary aim was to establish a two-party system and that everything else was secondary."

Senators With the Majority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas Sens. J. William Fulbright and John L. McClellan were with the majority Wednesday as the Senate voted 61-37 to refuse to table, and thus sustain, a point of order against a motion that would have opened the way for revision of its antifilibuster rule by majority vote.

Casualties Highest in Single Week

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland's headquarters announced today that American forces in Vietnam suffered nearly 1,200 casualties last week, their highest weekly total of the Vietnam war.

The U.S. command said 144 men were killed, 1,044 were wounded and six were missing in the week that ended at midnight Saturday. The previous high was in the week ending last Sept. 24, when 970 Americans were killed, wounded or missing.

Many of last week's casualties were sustained in Operation Cedar Falls in the "iron triangle" north of Saigon, the biggest ground sweep of the war. While there were no large-scale battles, there were numerous small clashes and the number of men deployed — estimated at more than 30,000 — exceeded any operation of the war.

Action in Operation Cedar Falls continued today at a steady pace. B52 bombers struck at Communist fortifications and tunnels at noon on the northern edge of the iron triangle 29 miles north-northwest of Saigon. The raid, the 13th by the B52's of the war, destroyed 12 buildings, 320 trenches, 59 bunkers and three tunnels, a U.S. spokesman reported.

Small ground skirmishes also continued in the iron triangle, and U.S. forces reported the toll of enemy dead since the operation started Jan. 8 had risen to 524, with a record 3,170 tons of rice seized and 421 weapons captured.

Over North Vietnam, U.S. pilots hammered at important railroad yards and rail bridges northeast and northwest of Hanoi Wednesday and flew 109 strike missions. It was the largest number of missions since Jan. 4, when U.S. pilots flew 116 against the North.

U.S. headquarters did not report any planes lost during the raids Wednesday although pilots reported very heavy anti-aircraft fire around some targets. Hanoi claimed two American planes were shot down.

In ground action in South Vietnam, U.S. headquarters reported only patrol clashes apart from the iron triangle operation. South Vietnamese headquarters said government troops killed 24 Viet Cong in two engagements.

The total of 1,194 American casualties last week topped a previous high of 970 killed, wounded or missing during the week that ended last Sept. 24. The casualties last week included the highest number of wounded of any week of the war, exceeding the previous high of 825 during that same September week, and the third highest number of combat dead.

The week of the most American dead ended Nov. 20, 1965, when 240 were killed, most of them in the first battle of the Ia Drang Valley. In the week that ended last May 21, 146 U.S. troops are reported killed, two more than last week.

U.S. headquarters announced enemy dead last week totaled 1,176, double the total the week before, while South Vietnamese headquarters said its forces lost 197 killed and 45 missing.

Last week's casualties brought the total American casualties reported in the war to 6,875 dead and 39,261 wounded.

Church Against Death Penalty

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Episcopal bishop of Arkansas issued a statement Wednesday "because of the current interest" reiterating the church's stand against capital punishment.

A bill to abolish the death penalty has been introduced in the Arkansas House.

The statement by the Rt. Rev. Robert R. Brown quoted a resolution approved in May, 1965 at the last meeting of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Arkansas. The resolution called for abolition of the death penalty.

New Rules Coming For Medical Expenses

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you are 65 or older or if you are furnishing the chief support of a parent who is 65 or older, this is the last year in which you can obtain a 100 per cent deduction for your or your parent's medical expenses. Beginning next year new rules will be in effect.

Here are the rules for filing your 1966 return which is due by April 17, 1967 (the customary 15th deadline is a Saturday).

If You and Your Wife Are Under 65

You will receive a medical deduction only for those medical and dental expenses which exceed 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income (the amount you enter on Line 9, Page 1, of your Form 1040). The cost of medicines and drugs is included in your medical expense tabulation to the extent it exceeds 1 per cent of adjusted gross income.

In compiling your list include all medical expenses for yourself, your wife and all your dependents.

If You or Your Wife Is 65 or Older

All medical expenses (within the maximum limitations listed later in this article) are fully deductible without regard to the 3 per cent and 1 per cent rules. (This is where the big change will occur next year; on returns filed in April, 1968, senior citizens will have to follow the same 3 per cent and 1 per cent rules which apply to other taxpayers.)

If a Dependent Parent Is 65 or Older

All the medical expenses you paid for such a parent in 1966 are fully deductible. List them separately from those expenses incurred by yourself, your wife and your dependent children. In this way you will receive full dollar-for-dollar credit on the parent's medical bills. Your own family's expenses will be subject to the usual 1 per cent and 3 per cent rules.

AND REMEMBER THIS BIG BREAK: If you furnished the chief support for a parent, you can obtain complete deduction for all medical expenses you paid for the parent EVEN IF you are not entitled to claim the parent as a dependent because he had $600 or more income.

For example, you paid a surgeon's fee of $1,500 for your mother, who is over 65, and who had $1,000 in dividend income. Since her income was greater than $600, she does not qualify as your dependent. But because of that $1,500 payment, you furnished her chief support. Therefore, you can get a full medical deduction for the $1,500.

Here are the maximum limitations on the medical deduction:

In general, the limit is $5,000 multiplied by the number of exemptions (but not counting the extra exemptions for age or blindness), and with this top limit:

- For single people who are not head of a household or a surviving spouse — $10,000.

- For married persons filing separate returns — $10,000.

- For married persons filing a joint return, or for a head of a household or a surviving spouse — $20,000.

Regardless of your age, this is the type of medical expense you may include in your tabulation:

Ambulance hire; braces, crutches, artificial limbs; dentist's fees; doctor's fees; eyeglasses and examination; false teeth; health and accident insurance; hearing aids; hospital expenses; hospital insurance; laboratory fees; nurse's fees; physical therapy treatments; transportation; X-ray fees.

NEW FOR GAME-PLAYING FAMILIES who shy from mod modern is oriental-style Shangri-la group by Basic-Witz. Party table, 25-inches, with roll-around armchairs is in walnut. Matching is six-unit vertical wall arrangement. Also new at the markets is striped carpet in lime green by Mohawk.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The design mood at the International Furniture Market in Chicago is au courant for a generation that must hang a title on everything or forget it!

For the plus society furniture is either sophisticated mix, mod modern or Pop art fantasy. Those scouting the mart corridors last week also were talking about the Plush Rush. And otherwise sedate Queen Anne or Regency pieces are now "electric."

Certainly gung ho interpretations of modern designs to fit the mini mood captured the eye, if not the approval, of all buyers.

Just as important and far from taking a back seat, though, are designs reflecting the 18th century. Manufacturers have worked these with flavors of French, Italian or English with the favorites in the corner of the Anglophiles. Here, too, modern creeps in with the upholstered pieces covered with elegant plushy fabrics. These are velours, chenilles, corduroys, striped, crushed and printed velvets. Cushioning is deep, made more comfortable with soft, resilient latex foam rubber.

Those who prefer traditional will have to brush up on English from Jacobean through Georgian, Queen Anne, Regency right down to Colonial interpretations and Federal styles.

The plush look in fabrics touches the formal French, too, with bold flower patterns, small-sealed bouquets and elegant stripes in all widths.

Generally, the emphasis on so-called City Mix is pushing rural interpretations aside. "Formal" is the byword of traditional furniture in this market. Even Italian Provincial takes on a formalized, feminine air.

Colors for the traditional mood are in the pale vein with olive, gold, blue, champagne in green and blue and mint green favored. These contrast with the gutsy, electric modern of lipstick red, black and white, emerald, shocking pink, fuchsia and sunny yellow.

In woods pecan is the period leader but cherry, mahogany, oak and walnut hold their own with finishes lighter than in previous years. Again taking a page from design of the '30s the manufacturers see blond tone woods as exciting entries for the homes of the plus society.

But, again for those who do not look upon the renaissance of modern as the greatest thing to hit the '60s, there is always the 18th century for solace.

Easier Credit Signs Are Mounting

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Money remains tight in many parts of the nation but signs of easier credit are mounting.

The first chink in the 6 per cent prime interest rate that banks charge their favored customers for loans came Wednesday when a relatively small Minnesota institution reduced its rate from 6 per cent to 5.75 per cent.

Isolated action by the National City Bank of Minneapolis surprised many bankers but it was hailed by the Treasury Department.

"The Treasury is heartened and pleased at this early movement in the direction of lower interest rates that the President advocated in the State of the Union message," the department said in response to an inquiry.

President Johnson, in proposing a 6 per cent surcharge on income and corporation taxes Tuesday night in his message to Congress, said it was partly designed to keep the economy growing without new inflationary strain and to move toward easier credit and lower interest rates.

The Minneapolis bank's action, although unique, was not the only sign of an easing Wednesday.

First National City Bank, New York's largest, announced a cut in the interest rate it will pay on some long-term certificates of deposit.

The rate since last spring has been 5.5 per cent on certificates maturing in 30 days or more. First National City cut the rate on maturities of nine months and longer to 5 1/4 per cent.

Banks raised their interest rates on deposits last year in an attempt to attract new savings. In an unrelated action, the Provident Savings Bank in Baltimore announced a 10 per cent cut in the down payment required on a new home in order to obtain a mortgage, and a 5 per cent cut on the down payment for an older home.

Provident also said it is encouraging home buyers to apply for loans. Lack of money last year forced many institutions to reject loan applications.

Action by Provident followed within hours an announcement by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board that it is making $1

The board said the money became available because of the currently better financial position of the thrift institutions.

The prime rate is a charge for loans to a bank's most credit-worthy customers, usually large corporations, but other interest rates are scaled upward from it. The prime rate was increased three times last year, finally to 6 per cent in August.

Walter W. Heller, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, who suggested last month a surtax similar to the one proposed by President Johnson, is a director of the Minneapolis bank and recommended the lower rates in a year-end report.

There was little indication elsewhere in the nation, however, that the Minneapolis lead would be followed.

Into the spotlight vacated by President Johnson's press secretary, Bill Moyers, went George Christian, who joined Johnson's staff last summer. Christian came to the White House from the staff of Texas Gov. John Connally. Moyers took a job as publisher of the Long Island newspaper Newsday. Christian became President Johnson's fourth press secretary in slightly more than three years.

Glazed Corned Beef a Winter's Dish

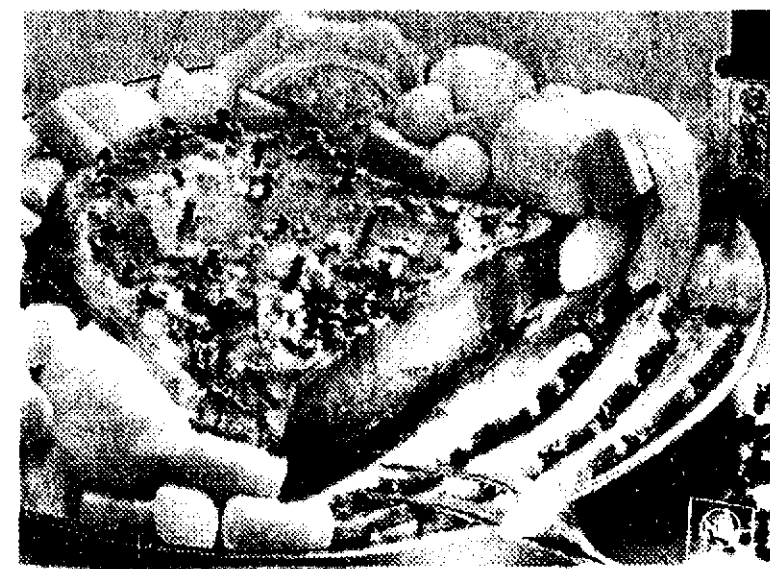

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Watch for your supermarket's special on corned beef. Often the price drops right into the budget food basket for a day or two. At such happy moments, treat yourself and family to a glazed corned beef dinner.

This special recipe achieves distinction by using prepared mustard, dark brown sugar and aromatic bitters. The same bitters used in many drinks.

Along with the crisply cooked vegetables (don't overcook; served with them, pass fresh fragrant rye bread with caraway seeds in it.

Cover corned beef with water and simmer about 4 hours or until beef is tender. Remove from water and drain. Put corned beef into a shallow baking pan. Brush top of meat with bitters mixed with mustard. Sprinkle with brown sugar. Stick cloves into beef. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400 degrees) for 20 minutes or until beef is glazed and bubbly. Serve with boiled potatoes, cabbage wedges, whole onions and carrots. (The

Enjoy Broccoli with Mousseline Sauce

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Fresh broccoli is abundant. So why not make the most of this popular vegetable at current budget prices?

Don't be afraid to undercook it. Wait until about 15 minutes before serving time to start it in boiling salted water. Let it cook a few minutes without a lid, then cover for perhaps another 10 minutes. This trick keeps the bright green color. Serve hot with melted butter, a lemony mayonnaise or Mousseline sauce.

Correctly cooked, broccoli is a good source of vitamin A, an excellent source of vitamin C and a valuable amount of iron and other minerals. It is also quite low in calories since a cup of broccoli provides only 40 calories.

as quickly as the buds. Place in saucepan with salt and 1-inch boiling water; cook, uncovered, 5 minutes. Cover and continue cooking until stalks are crisp-tender. Drain. Serve hot with Mousseline Sauce. Six servings.

MOUSSELINE SAUCE
3 egg yolks
1/4 cup milk
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1/16 teaspoon ground nutmeg

1/16 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/16 teaspoon powdered mustard
1 egg white

Place egg yolks, milk, butter, lemon juice, nutmeg, pepper and mustard in top of double boiler. Mix well. Cook over hot water (not boiling) until sauce is thickened, stirring constantly. Beat egg white until it stands in soft peaks. Fold into cooked mixture. Serve at once with broccoli. Yield: one cup.

Prepare Heating Equipment For Off-Season Shutdown

By MR. FIX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Furnaces and boilers suffer corrosion and break down more often during the off-season than when they are being used. Dust and soot combine with moisture to do the damage. Soot and moisture form sulphuric acid which eats away the metal. You're probably thinking about your furnace now, while it's in use, so why not clip this column and save it for shutting-down time?

The first rule in shutting down the furnace for the warm weather months is to give it a thorough cleaning. Use a brush to loosen the dirt, a vacuum to remove it.

Once clean, coat all the inside surfaces with oil. Any lubricating oil or crankcase draining can be used for this. An efficient way to apply it is with an insect spray. Galvanized smoke pipe is especially susceptible. Clean thoroughly and coat with plenty of oil. If it is possible to do so, take down the pipe; clean, oil and store in a dry place wrapped in newspapers.

Give your furnace a thorough cleaning.

If the smoke pipe must be left up, there will be air circulating through the furnace from the chimney. This air is damp and can do damage. Furnace doors should be left slightly ajar and hinges and joints kept well-oiled.

If you have a coal furnace, remove the grates and clean. Coat with plenty of oil. It will burn off the first time the furnace is used.

Same Treatment for Boilers

Boilers should be given the same treatment. Clean exposed surfaces and coat with oil. Lubricate moving parts.

Boilers, whether for steam or hot-water heat, should not be drained at the end of the season. There is no virtue in filling a boiler tank with fresh water, only harm.

The water that has been heated again and again has no oxygen left in it, hence will not corrode metal. Fresh water, loaded with air, will rust all metal that it touches.

Do, however, add just enough fresh water to keep the boiler filled to the top. In hot-water systems, all pipes and radiators should be kept filled.

Sediment that collects, especially when fresh water is added, falls to the bottom of the tank and remains there to harden unless drained off regularly. Do this throughout the heating season.

If you should have to refill with fresh water, heat almost to the boiling point to get rid of air in the water.

If you fire your furnace with oil, this is the time to have the tank filled. Not only will you be ready for winter, you will protect exposed inner surfaces of the tank. Scale is likely to form here, later settling to the bottom of tank and clogging the fuel line.

Leave Pilot Light Burning

With gas furnaces it is best to leave the pilot light burning all summer. The small amount of heat is not noticeable, but it is enough to keep surfaces dry. The cost is small and you will be saved the trouble of relighting the pilot next fall.

Take the precaution, though, of making certain the furnace doesn't go on if there is a slight drop in temperature. Set the thermostat quite low, 50 degrees or so. You can be absolutely certain, if you wish, by cutting off the power in the electrically operated automatic system either by pulling the switch or removing the fuse on the power line to the furnace.

Frankfurters Are Cooked; Need Only Heating

Cooking not required can be a welcome phrase to a busy mother who's trying to get food on the table. If only heating is necessary to get hot food ready, she can plan on having a meal in minutes.

Frankfurters, as well as other cooked smoked sausage links, belong in this category. As a matter of fact, frankfurters are so versatile, they might be heated for serving hot in any of three ways, says Reba Stagg, meat authority.

The first method is simmering. For this water is brought to the boiling point, frankfurters are put in and the utensil covered. The frankfurters are simmered, rather than boiled, three to five minutes, and allowed to stand in the hot water 3 minutes until heated through. Range on time is given because of variations in the size of the links.

To broil, brush frankfurters with butter or margarine and broil three inches from heat. Turn with tongs, letting them brown evenly.

For panbroiling melt one to two tablespoons of fat in a heavy frying-pan or on a griddle and brown frankfurters. Turn with tongs to prevent juices from running out.

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 11 — Advance orders for young quail are now being accepted on a first-come-first-served basis by the Game and Fish Commission, and no order will be accepted after May 1. Conservation groups and similar clubs may place orders for a minimum of 100 birds, which are banded, for $30 per hundred. This offer is not extended to commercial shooting clubs. Payment for the number of birds desired must be included in the order. Advance orders are now being taken so that the Commission can estimate the number of birds to be reared. Birds delivered will be about six weeks old and will be released under supervision of Commission personnel.

ART OF POACHING

CONWAY — When it comes to deer hunting, some men are deer hunters with a sense of sportsmanship and a few are just meat hunters. A classic example involves pet deer penned up at the Commission's quail area at Camp Robinson.

About three years ago a buck and doe were placed in the large enclosure that bordered the road leading to the camp's headquarters area. The doe later gave birth to a fawn and the three deer became semi-tame pets. Just before the first deer period in 1965, a poacher killed the doe, but didn't — or couldn't — bother the other two deer. Just after the close of the final deer season that year, a violator shot the young buck in the neck. The shot didn't kill the buck, but partially paralyzed it.

In October of 1966 a wild, 8-point buck jumped into the enclosure and made himself at home. During the second gun period, poachers struck again. G&F personnel, following the blood trail, said the wild deer was standing 20 feet from the road and inside the fence when it was killed and dragged out. No doubt, the hunter had a difficult time whooping between the signs that read, "No Hunting, Game Refuge." The pet buck took another slug in his neck, but again escaped being killed.

Attempts are being made to re-locate the enclosure and two deer in a more remote, wooded section deep in the area. Even then they may not be safe, since the moral of this story must be that a deer isn't safe anywhere when a poacher is at large.

BEAVER BUSY AS A BEAVER ROGERS — Up NW Arkansas way biologists are smiling, dock operators are grinning, and fishermen are having the best laugh. It's all because of the Northern pike activity.

During the past year fishermen reported a gang of pike. One went 15½ pounds, and others reported included one at 12 pounds and 10 ounces, 11-9, 11-2, 10, two at nine pounds, 8-13, 8-12, 8-4, two at 7-12, two at 7 pounds, two at 6½, five at 6 even, four at 5½, three at 5-2, six at 5-0, one at 4-12, three at 4½, and eight at four pounds even. The Northern pike were stocked in the lake 2½ years ago as a tiny fry and have made amazing growth.

Little Wonder that biologists are smiling at the fish's adaptation to the lake so rapidly, dock operators are grinning because pike fishermen have the cash registers ringing, and fishermen are having the time of their life. Other outstanding catches in the new Beaver lake, according to Floy Scroggins, are an 8½-pound largemouth, a 12¼-pound walleye, a 4½-pound smallmouth, and a 30-pound flathead catfish — all caught on rod and reel.

COMMERCIAL FISHERIES INVENTORIED

LONOKE — One unheralded but vital industry of the state is its wild commercial fisheries and the mussel shell industry carried out by commercial fishermen. The exact flow of money or economic value to the state by this industry has never been accurately established.

The Commission's Fisheries Division has undertaken to learn the true value of this industry, plus fish farming. The first step was to learn the expenditures paid to the G&F for licenses.

There are 367 regular of full-time commercial fishermen and 1,737 parttime commercial fishermen. The regulars have licensed 6, 165 pieces of gear, such as hoop nets, trollines and seines, at a cost of $19,584. Part-time fishermen have paid $23,915.25 in licensing 4,695 pieces of commercial tackle. Each fisherman must also purchase a resident fishing license for $3.50, bringing the total paid for licenses and permits to $44,883.75.

Seventy-three persons are engaged in buying mussel shells and 2,700 persons have been licensed as takers. The exact number of fish farmers is now being processed.

After this comes the task of learning the economic value of each of the three types of commercial fishing to the state so that the Fisheries Division can aid the industry through obtaining federal aid based on the value of commercial fisheries to the state.

Sprightly Sauce Accents Hearty Beef Short Ribs

Hearty is a word that describes beef short ribs but it's not the only one. Flavorful is another. Delectable can also be used when these ribs are prepared with a tangy raisin sauce.

Square to rectangular in shape, composed of alternating layers of lean and fat, short ribs are browned in their own fat, explains meat expert, Reba Stagg. After cooking tightly covered for an hour and a half, the drippings are poured off. The sauce ingredients, brought to a boil, are used as the braising liquid.

Beef Short Ribs — Raisin Sauce
4 pounds beef short ribs
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 onion, quartered
½ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon flour
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 bay leaf
1½ cups water
½ cup raisins

Brown short ribs in own fat, cover tightly and cook slowly 1½ hours. Pour off drippings. Season ribs with salt and pepper. Add quartered onion. Combine remaining ingredients and bring to a boil. Pour over short ribs. Cover tightly and cook slowly about 2 hours or until meat is tender. Thicken sauce, if desired 6 servings.

Thurmond Holds Talk Record

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Back in 1932 Sen. Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, the Senate's Democratic floor leader, said "when a senator once takes to the floor, nobody but Almighty God can interrupt him, and the Lord never seems to take much notice of him."

But making a single senator shut up was never much of a problem, even if the Lord ignored him. Just let the senator exhaust himself, for if he could chatter for 25 hours he would be a record-breaker.

The record-holder is Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who talked 24 hours and 18 minutes in 1957 against the civil rights bill. Then, when he had finished, the Senate passed the bill. But this was just a one-man filibuster, which is an attempt to block Senate action by talk.

The real problem is how to shut up a bunch of senators on a filibuster. There is a way to stop them, called cloture, if it can ever be managed, which down through American history has never been often. Just the same, down through history a try has been made.

And now 35 years after Robinson indicated the Lord's reluctance to interfere, some liberal senators are still trying to find an easier way than the one on the books to shut off a filibuster. And that will be one of the problems of the 90th Congress which opens today.

They're pinning a lot of hope on Hubert H. Humphrey who, as vice president, is supposed to preside over the Senate and, when asked, to give his opinion on things like rules about filibusters.

There wasn't a rule for stopping a filibuster until 1917 when President Woodrow Wilson, fed up on a filibuster that blocked one of his projects, got the Senate to pass a cloture rule, called Rule 22, which became famous later for all that was said about it.

This rule simply required a vote of two-thirds of the senators present and voting, which is something less than a two-thirds vote of the full Senate, to shut off debate.

But in 1949 the Senate got into a peevish hassle over fair employment practices legislation. The Senate made it even tougher to kill a filibuster by changing Rule 22. No longer could just two-thirds of the senators present stop debate. Now it had to be two-thirds of all the senators.

Several attempts were made by Senate liberals between 1949 and 1959 to soften up Rule 22. No good. In 1959 they made it a little softer by changing it back to where it was: A filibuster could be stopped by two-thirds of the senators present at voting time.

This, of course, was just a mild softening. The liberal ideal would be to stop a filibuster by a simple majority of the senators present at voting time. But the 1959 rule change has been unchanged since, despite other liberal assaults on it.

This time the liberals seem to think their chance is better with Humphrey presiding. He was committed to softening Rule 22 ever since 1953 when he and others, unsuccessfully, tried to do it.

This is where he comes in: A new session of Congress, like this one, the Senate has a right to change its rules. Their opponents argue the Senate is a continuing body, with the rules remaining the same.
